The Daily Union Vedette.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEB. 1, 1865.

Whistling to keep up their Courage.

GO FROM HOME FOR NEWS.—The Virginia Union says "an unsparing pen is showing up the abominations of Mormonism, which is creating much excitement among the 'Latter Day Saints.'" Where is the excitement? Haven't seen it, haven't heard it. Must we go a few hundred miles away for "exciting" local items?—Salt Lake Telegraph.

Certainly—who's afraid? Not the fellows who see our especial game, of course not, as why should they be?

We happen to know, however, that these lecherous polygamists are trembling in every one of their weakening joints notwithstanding all this show of bastard courage which they affect, and the pretense of indifference recently assumed—as cowards whistle to keep up their courage when their very marrow is quaking within their bones. When we first applied the branding iron to their sensitive flanks they writhed and floundered like a terapin with a live coal of fire on his back, but the excruciating torture of truth could not be escaped and they have, very wisely we must confess, drawn in their heads and try to endure in silence.

Ah! we understand these Saintly hypocrites perfectly. While none but the simple and credulous listened to their foul abuse, when they had everything their own way, with no one to hurl back in their polluted lips the lies of which they were so prolific, why there was no end to their squirt-gum cannonade of everybody on earth except their precious selves, but the moment a few hot shot are unexpectedly dropped among them their batteries, dangerous only for the filth they vomit, are silenced at once.

They have "stolen the livery of heaven to serve the devil in;" wolves disguised as sheep, they have made the night, in which they delight to prowl, hideous with their howlings, thereby betraying their blood-thirsty instincts, but when the hunter appears they cease the hellish concert and troop away sneakily to their dens. Like the amphibious race to which stagnant and unwholesome waters give birth, they have hitherto squat unmolested on the quagmires surrounding their own social cess-pool, totally unconscious of the great world which encompasses them, and vexed the silence with ceaseless croaking, but now that a torch has been lifted which flashes a ray of light athwart the gloom they love and the dip of an intruding oar disturbs the sluggish depths wherein they dwell, their piping voices are hushed and the whole tribe dive incontinently to congenial coverts whence they peer at the intruder with ludicrously distended eyes. We confess that this sport amuses us and we intend to continue it though it should prove to them as a similar diversion did to the frogs in the fable.

'Tis true that these lawless polygamists and would-be traitors, who have so long persecuted the weak and slandered the helpless innocent, are now tongue-tied, but theirs is the silence significant of fear. It is the speechless terror which overwhelms the self-condemned criminal when the avenger he has eluded for years finally overtakes him, and accusing witnesses, he had thought were buried under the earth, suddenly arise like ghosts from the grave confronting his affrighted soul with guilt he imagined had passed from the memory of men.

We will haunt these heavy-headed sinners with the remembrance of their evil deeds, and if our friend of the Union will but be patient we promise he shall bear them howl, by-and-by, like whipt cura. They know their masters.

We understand that no mail has passed Fort Bridger from the Eastward since the 16th of January.

The following effort at something "edifying" was made by one of the intelligent Mormon Elders, in the Tabernacle, on the 8th of April, 1864. His remarks very suddenly changes from the Book of Mormon to the gold question:

I esteem it a favor and a privilege to address you. I hope what I may say may be dictated by the word of God. We are blessed with a great deal of teaching and council, and we ought to appreciate it. The world seek for wealth, men seek for high places, to be rulers, etc., but there is no place that a man can occupy, in my view, higher than to be a member of the church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, a member of the kingdom of God. We have that privilege. The praying spirit that inspired the prophet Joseph remaineth with me to this day. There are true and false spirits. Every spirit that denies the Book of Mormon and that Joseph Smith was a prophet, is a false spirit. What is the spirit of the world to-day? To seek to overthrow the kingdom of God; to destroy the Latter Day Saints; to seek for the goods and honors of this world, and to gratify their lusts, etc. I was in Boston when the mines broke out in California. It was astonishing what an effect it had on the minds of the people—ship loads left daily for the mines. A little gold has a great effect on the minds of men; it blinds them; it makes them care nothing for the kingdom of God, and it is gold alone that they worship. There has not been half the gold taken out of the mines of California that it has cost to get it. It is better for the saints to cultivate the earth than to become seekers of gold. We should obey the councils of Brigham and our leaders, we know they are for our good. Our present salvation depends on their councils. We are responsible to God alone for what we do, and not to men. It is our duty to cultivate the earth. It is better to have the spirit of Christ than it is to have gold. Let us obey council. I feel it to be my duty, and that my salvation depends on it. God owns the land and the country; He made it; it belongs to Him. He will hold us responsible for the course we pursue with the holy priesthood. There is no power on earth that can overthrow this kingdom. The kingdom of God is bound to prevail! We be unto them who reject the testimony of the Latter Day Saints. The same God that inspired the prophets inspired Joseph Smith. I have been a member of this church for thirty years, and I never knew a man that followed the councils of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young that was not blessed. It is our place to obey the councils of our superiors. We shall not be left without a ruler, leader, seer, etc. Let us seek to be faithful, humble, obedient, etc. Amen.

THE NATIONAL RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES.—It will be remembered that in printing the President's Message as it came over the wires, there were many inaccuracies which could not be rectified by guess work. For the purpose of future reference as well as general information now, we publish what the President said relative to our finances, as the message appears in the New York papers:

The receipts during the year from all sources, upon the basis of warrants signed by the Secretary of the Treasury, including loans and the balance in the Treasury on the first day of July, 1863, were $1,394,796,007 62, and the aggregate disbursements upon the same basis were $1,298,056,101 89, leaving a balance in the Treasury, as shown by warrants, of $96,739,905 73. Deduct from these amounts the amount of the principal of the public debt redeemed, and the amount of issues in substitution therefor, and the actual cash operations of the Treasury were: Receipts, $884,076,646 77; disbursements, $865,234,087 86; which leaves a cash balance in the Treasury of $18,842,558 71. Of the receipts there were derived from customs, $102,316,152 99; from lands, $588,333 29; from direct taxes, $475,648 96; from Internal revenue, $109,741,134 10; from miscellaneous sources, $47,511,448 10; and from loans applied to actual expenditures, including former balance, $623,443,929 13. There were disbursed for the civil service, $27,503,599 16; for pensions and Indians, $7,517,030 97; for the War Department, $60,791,849 79; for the Navy Department, $86,733,292 27; for interest on the public debt, $53,642 69; making an aggregate of $765,234,087 86, and leaving a balance in the Treasury of $18,842,558 72, as before stated.

Delegate Kinney on the Rebellion.

The "great first cause" of the terrible rebellion that engages the attention and anxious solicitude of every patriot in the country and of every lover of liberty throughout the world, was announced by JOHN F. KINNEY, the present delegate in Congress from Utah, on the occasion of his being brought out as a candidate for that office, in these memorable words:

"President Young has told you I would make a political speech. It is true I have been an active politician in the great National Democratic Party; but in the present condition of the affairs of the country I have no heart for politics (Amens and cries of good). I tell you, my friends, that this terrible rebellion began with the martyrdom of Joseph Smith the Prophet, in Illinois; and the murder of Joseph and Hiram Smith was the 'great first cause' of the war, and for which the nation will be broken up and destroyed and ought to be. Ever since I made the acquaintance of Brigham the most friendly feelings have existed (and pointing to him) I do love that man." (Amens by the crowd).

JOHN F. KINNEY, formerly Chief Justice of the Territory of Utah, and now delegate in Congress from this Territory, did in a public speech made in the town of Provo and in presence of nearly four thousand men, women and children, make use of the language above quoted.

We desire the authorities at Washington to know it. He cannot deny it. If he does we will cover the charge with the testimony of reputable citizens.

What an admirable discovery he made? What wonderful advance in ethics, morality and loyalty!

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY VEDETTE.]

New York, Jan. 26th.

There appears to be a general indisposition to embark in any commercial transactions for the moment. Business men are utterly at a loss, undecided which way to move. Gold drops to two hundred, and the world of trade is kept in a state of ferment. The rumors relative to peace negotiations have completely unsettled the markets for California produce. Wool is inactive and unsettled, holders of foreign purchased in currency or by exchange are anxious to realize. Tallow is drooping. There is a moderate demand for bides at fair prices, receipts are light. Wheat is in better demand and at higher prices. Pork is more active and firmer. Foreign exchange is dull, at 110 for banker's bills, and 109 at twenty days. Stocks are depressed; sales of five thousand California Sevens at 155. Five hundred Mariposa at 90. Two hundred Quicksilver Mining Company at 96. Gov't securities are lower, in sympathy with gold. The money market working easy. The call loan, 7 per cent. California freights continue dull, and engagements are limited.

Cleared to-day—ship Lookout, in Sutton & Co's line for Liverpool. Cleared Dec. 31st—ship Arrow, for San Francisco.

New York, Jan 29th.

The Richmond Sentinel states that Breckenridge has been appointed Secretary of War.

New York, Jan. 30th.

The Herald's special says: The mission of Blair to Richmond was not as has been generally supposed, an entire failure, but that it resulted in fully disclosing the fact that many of the rebel chiefs are desirous of peace and are willing to submit to much more reasonable terms than their newspaper organs would lead us to suppose; but that they are so jealous and watchful of each other that no one dare make the advance, for fear of being made a victim of some desperate and relentless faction.

Another correspondent says: We need not be surprised to soon hear of terms for peace in the proclamations of the Governors of Georgia and North Carolina.

The Tribune's special says: The only new development as to Blair's mission is reported by two members of the House, who dined with the returned envoy, although they are from democratic states. Blair said that Jeff Davis entreated him to effect the passage of the Constitutional amendment, abolishing slavery. He confessed the war had uprooted and destroyed slavery, and had induced disunion, and the hope of being able yet to save slavery and reinstate it was the only obstacle to peace and the restoration of the Union. This was told on the floor of the House.

New York, Jan. 30th.

The Herald's St. Louis correspondent gives outlines of a reported rebel project in West Mississippi of an extraordinary character. It is to the effect that Gen. Kirby Smith, commanding the rebel trans-Mississippi Department, including all the rebel territory and troops West of the Mississippi River, has been negotiating for a transfer of his forces to the Emperor Maximilian of Mexico.

The Herald publishes the rebel army roster, which it says was obtained from the most authentic source. The figures accompanying the organization show the full strength of the rebels to be only one hundred and sixty-eight thousand nine hundred and fifty men of all arms. This is their fullest strength, and these forces are scattered from the James to Red River, and from the Atlantic coast to the Indian territories. It is shown very conclusively that the only army upon which the rebels can depend, is the army of Northern Virginia. This is the only organization which the enemy has deserving the name, and the only army which we now have to overcome.

The Tribune has a leading article on recognition and intrigue, in which it says it has obtained a clue to the European plot where slave holding rebels are comforting themselves with the hope of a powerful and speedy aid to their sinking cause. Its outline is at an early stage of the rebellion. Jeff Davis sent the Roman Catholic Bishop Lynch, of South Carolina, to Europe to search for sympathizers and allies, but to make Rome his focus of operations. It was not difficult for him to co-convince the master spirits of European reaction and abolitionism; that the slave holders in rebellion was identical in spirit with their cause and enlist their sympathy; but Bishop Lynch went further and assured the magnates of the Catholic Church that its expansion and predominance throughout the hemisphere would be assured by the triumph of the rebels, and in deference to these representations a secret league of Roman Catholic powers in France, Spain and Austria, under the guidance of the Pope, has been formed and are to recognize the Confederacy, after the 4th of March, on the ground that it did not take part in the Presidential election. The Tribune also learns that the rebels anticipate a fresh assault on Richmond, and in case they cannot hold it they will burn it to the ground, to show chivalry that they would rather be exterminated than subjects.

Important Mining Decision.

As interesting to miners and others hereabouts, we present the following important decision recently rendered in the Supreme Court of California. We clip from the Reese River Reveille:

The Supreme Court of California has lately made a decision upon the tenure of mining ground, that will be of great interest to the miners of Nevada. The question it decides as to the right of miners to make rules declaring when mines are forfeited or abandoned, has long been a matter of dispute, but it is now decided beyond controversy. The decision was made in an action brought to recover possession of a mining claim. The plaintiffs aver title, possession and outer in the usual form. The defendants specifically deny all the material averments in the complaint, and affirmatively aver a forfeiture and abandonment by the plaintiffs, under the mining laws of the district embracing the claim, and that thereafter, finding the premises vacant and unappropriated, they lawfully entered and occupied the same. The first trial resulted in a verdict and judgment for the plaintiffs.

The defendants relied upon the alleged forfeiture or loss of the right to mine the ground on the part of the plaintiffs, if they had ever acquired such a right, by failure to work the ground and keep the right alive, as required by the mining rules and regulations in force in the district. And that, by such neglect and failure on their part, the ground, at and prior to the defendants' entry, had become again, as it was prior to the location under which plaintiff's claimed, publici juris, and open to their occupation. In support of this defense the book before referred to, containing the rules and regulations of the district, was offered in evidence by the defendants, accompanied with testimony tending to show that plaintiffs had failed and neglected to comply therewith, and had therefore failed to keep alive their alleged right to mine the ground in question.

Without noticing in detail the instructions of the Court, (below) it is sufficient to say that the jury were instructed in effect that if they found from the evidence that the plaintiffs had acquired a right to mine the ground in controversy prior to the entry of the defendants, that right could not be divested by a non-compliance on their part with any rules or regulations adopted by the miners; but that such rules and regulations might be considered by them in connection with the other evidence for the purpose of determining whether or not the plaintiffs had abandoned their claim. We understand the learned Judge of the Court below to have here used the term forfeiture in a mining law sense, and abandonment in its common law sense. Such being the case, the jury were instructed that there was not, and could not be, any such thing as forfeiture under mining rules and regulations, and if so, the instruction was undoubtedly erroneous.

The term forfeiture as used in our mining customs and codes means the loss of a right to mine a particular piece of ground, previously acquired, by neglect or failure to comply with the rules and regulations of the bar or diggings in which the ground is situated, prescribing the acts which must be done in order to continue and keep alive that right after it has been once acquired. As a defense it is entirely distinct and separate from that of abandonment. It involves no question of intent but rests entirely upon the mining rules and regulations, and involves only the question whether, in point of fact, those rules and regulations have been observed by the party seeking to maintain or perpetuate the right, regardless of what his intention may have been. Whereas the principal question involved in the defense of abandonment is one of intention. Was the ground left by the locator without any intention of returning, or making any further use of it? If so, an abandonment has taken place upon common law principles, independent of any mining rule or regulation, and the ground has become once more publici juris and open to the occupation of the next comer.

That the miners may make rules and regulations to govern the acquisition and tenure of mining rights has been expressly and, in our judgment, wisely declared by the Legislature, with the further declaration that such rules and regulations, shall be admitted in evidence and shall control the decision of mining controversies. (Practice Act Sec. 621; Morton vs. the Solano Mining Company, decided at the present term.)

Judgment reversed and new trial ordered.

THE HICKMAN CASE.—Monday the Probate Court sustained the demurrer in the Hickman case and decided that he should be tried by the civil tribunals. In his decision Judge Smith also decided that the Act of Congress of March 3, 1863, did not apply to this Territory, because there is here no war, insurrection or rebellion, and that Section 30th has no application in Utah. Hence it follows that soldiers and others in the military service are amenable to the civil courts.

We understand that the whole question will be removed to a higher court, by appeal or otherwise.

It is amusing to hear the wild speculative conversation going on in Camp relative to Maj. Bull and his carpet-bag.

On Monday, one of our men in his excitement said that he had seen the "Major and Charley" in town, also that he had seen their names registered at the Salt Lake House. Guess this man must have been experiencing a "blue Monday," eh?

SEVERAL communications having been addressed of late to J. M. Thurmond, Esq., as a co-partner of Jas. W. Stevens, Esq., Attorney at Law in S. L. City, the latter gentleman requests our readers to observe his card in our advertising columns. Mr. Stevens has no business relation whatever with Mr. Thurmond, as they have two separate and distinct offices.

THE ball at the Camp Douglas Hall, on Monday evening, although "got up" in a hurry, was a very pleasant and sociable party. The thanks of the men are due Mr. Avet, of the Camp Restaurant, for his kindness and charity in preparing so excellent a supper, and crediting for the same until the coming pay-day.

MR. JESSE BEENE, at Austin, Nevada, has the largest and most complete assortment of Drugs, Medicines, etc., to be found in any town between St. Louis and Sacramento. His stock consists of the purest medicines, and he is able to supply the trade at wholesale and retail, at prices within the limits of justice.

REV. Norman McLeod will preach at Camp Douglas on Sunday next. Services will commence at 2 P. M. His sermons are listened to with interest by the command. They are loyal and christianlike, and proceed from an earnest, pure minded and sincere man.

YESTERDAY the cold raw winds blew in all their fury. The beautiful winter weather which has favoured us for so many days, has been changed to the disagreeable, such as makes every one feel blue.

THE soldiers at Fort Bridger celebrated the anniversary of the battle of Bear River with a grand ball on Monday evening, January 30th.

Y. M. L. ASSOCIATION TAKE NOTICE.

AT a meeting of the YOUNG MEN'S LITERARY ASSOCIATION, held Jan. 16th 1865, the following resolution was adopted:

SUPERINTENDENCY OF INDIAN AFFAIRS.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, U. T.

January 25, 1865.

NOTICE is hereby given that under an order of the President of the United States, dated October 3rd, 1861, the "Entire portion of the Valley of the Uintah River within Utah Territory, extending on both sides of said river to the crest of the first range of contiguous mountains on each side," was directed to be set apart as an Indian Reservation.

That by the provisions of an Act of Congress, approved May 5th, 1864, (see chapter 77 of the laws of 1864, pamphlet ed., page 43) the Uintah Valley Reservation is "Set apart for the permanent settlement and exclusive occupation of such of the different tribes of Indians of Utah Territory as may be induced to inhabit the same."

Therefore, notice is hereby given, under instructions of the Department of the Interior transmitted to me through the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, "That all white settlers must forthwith remove from the Uintah Reservation," and that on the opening of spring "all persons found therein unlawfully," "that is, without a license to trade, a passport, or permission of the proper Indian authorities, will be removed," and that the law of the United States, applicable to Indian Reservations, will be enforced.

Rev. Norman McLeod will preach at Camp Douglas on Sunday next. Services will commence at 2 P. M. His sermons are listened to with interest by the command. They are loyal and christianlike, and proceed from an earnest, pure minded and sincere man.

THE soldiers at Fort Bridger celebrated the anniversary of the battle of Bear River with a grand ball on Monday evening, January 30th.

MESSRS. ROSENBAUM & CO. are anxiously looking for an experienced Tanner. Apply at their Meat Market.

UNITED STATES SALOON.

FARINI AND HIS BRIDE.—Quite a sensation was created at Halifax a short time since by the marriage of the accomplished and beautiful daughter of one of the wealthiest citizens, now deceased, who held a high position in society. The happy man was Farini, the champion of Niagara Falls, who, it will be recollect, attempted the daring feat of crossing the rapids within twenty feet of the brink, on stilts, and when half way across was precipitated (by one of his stilts-breaking) into the roaring waters. His extraordinary escape, and reaching an island which had never before been visited by any human being, must be still fresh in the memory of our readers. The lucky fellow is said to be well bred, an Upper Canadian by birth, and one who studied the medical profession, though by some strange fascination, he has adopted that of a rope-walker. The lady is said to be exceedingly beautiful and highly accomplished, and is heiress to a property worth at least $30,000.

MISS MARY ELIZABETH FERGUM, a very intelligent and high-minded young lady of Dayton, Ohio, having on conviction renounced the faith of Christianity, was converted and admitted into the pale of Judaism on Sunday, November 20th, 1864, in the synagogue of that city, by the Rev. Dr. Lilenthal, of Cincinnati, and to strengthen her resolution in weal and woe to steadfastly cling to her adopted faith and the time-honored race identified with it, was subsequently united in happy wedlock to Mr. Edward Weinstein, a young and wealthy Hebrew.

A VERY singular and disgusting event is reported to have taken place in Somerville, Mass. The circumstances are that an Irishman offered to drink a quart of whisky at once if an acquaintance of his would pay for the same, and if he failed to perform thefeat he was to pay for it himself. The whisky was obtained and the man performed his part of the ceremony by drinking it, winning the wages but losing his life. He died soon after.

THEY tell of a New York regiment which during their three years' service traveled by sea and land more than 12,000 miles, fought twenty general engagements, marched through fifteen states, and has been under Burnside, Pope, McClellan, McDowell, Meade, Sherman and Grant.

SIR Godfrey Kneller was showing Pope, the poet, a room full of the beauties he had painted. "It is a pity, Sir Godfrey," said Pope, "that you had not been consulted at the creation!" Sir Godfrey, looking full upon Pope's humpy shoulders, replied, "Really, I should have made some things better!"

SOMEBODY at the East has published a book on the "Philanthropic Result of the War." The author belongs to the same family with the young surgeon who said, "The war is worth all it has cost, in the improved science of amputation."

MRS. ALVIN ADAMS bought '931, the number that drew the $1,000 album at the recent Sailor's Fair in Boston. One man bought $868 worth of tickets and then didn't get it.
